The Days Before Jaron Came

NEW TITLE

Turkey

Monday, October 5th

Mom has been away for six days now.
I miss her a lot.
Every day I knit a square for Jaron's woolen blanket. At least one! I have to hurry to make the blanket big enough. I can already knit a few stitches without looking. Rosina watches the ball of yarn and catches the sun's rays.
Tomorrow I want to stop by the sheep.

THE DAYS BEFORE JARON CAME

Written and illustrated by Sonja Danowski
Age 3+ / 40 pages / 12.4 x 31 cm / full-colour
hardcover with hot-foil

- topics:

- anticipation, gratitude, diary, birth, siblings, love

- stunning pictures by award-winning author

- great gift book for families, for new babies ...

- with Sonjas own (digital) font

Today it's Jaron's 3rd birthday. He gets nice presents, but he's longing for what he loves most of all: Listening to his sister reading out of her diary from the time before he was born and the day he arrived.

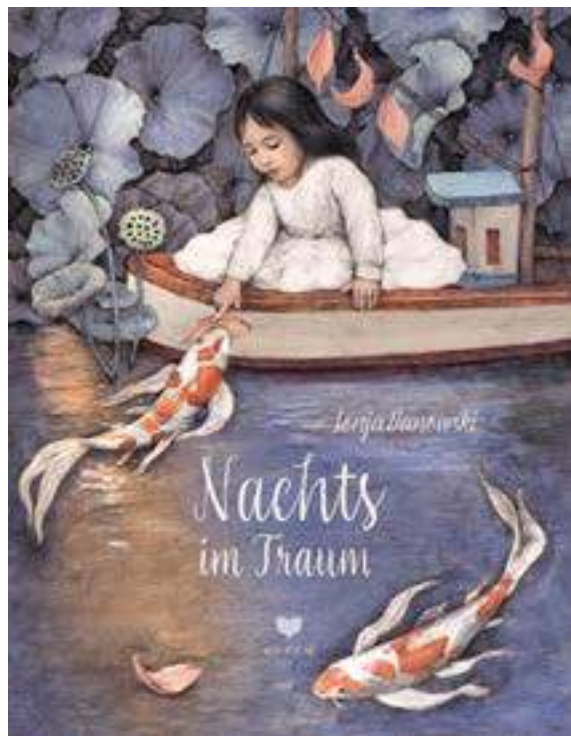

So Mara begins to read: About her father, who planted a new apple tree, about the patchwork blanket, Inara knit for him, about the mobile, she made for him and the animals on the farm.

A warm story about neverending love of brother and sister.
And a great gift for children, who become big brother or sister.
A mix of story and diary!

THEATRE NEXT DOOR

Age 3+ / 56 pages / 25 x 32 cm / full-colour
hardcover with embossing

- topics: resolving of conflicts
between children
- incredibly delicate and detailed drawings

The siblings Pia and Pablo love to play with their puppet theatre, which contains various characters. One day Ricky moves in next door and suddenly Pablo stops playing with Pia and the puppets but instead spends a lot of time with Ricky and his toy car and toy plane collection. Pia however continues playing on her own. Until Ricky falls ill ... and so the play runs it's course.

A story, that shows feelings of children in an incredibly sensible and subtle way.

Lucia Zamolo

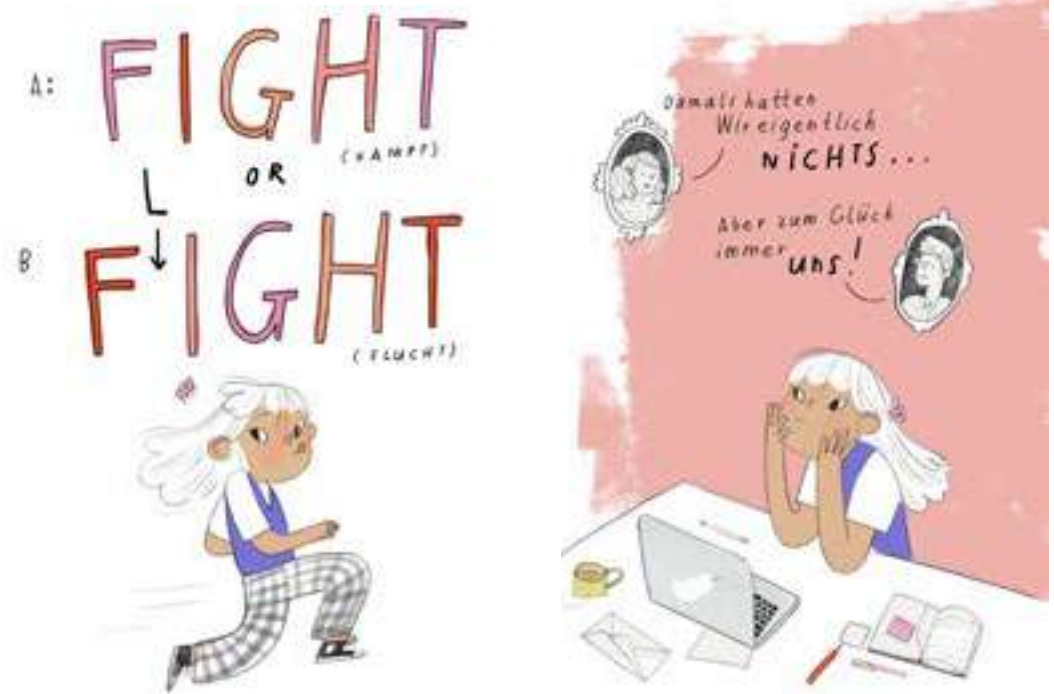

NEW BOOK BY LUCIA ZAMOLO IN PROGRESS!

Written and illustrated by Lucia Zamolo
Age 14+ / 96 pages / 16 x 22 cm / full-colour
flexicover

- topic: stress, resilience, work-life balance
- final files ready in Oct. 2023!
- will come out in Jan. 2024 in German

Lucia 's new book project is – like all her stories – inspired by personal experiences.
It will be a mixture of her own life, tragic, strange, exhausting and overwhelming moments – all in all »all day life stress« ...
BUT LOTS OF FUNNY MOMENTS and humor as well!

It doesn't want to be a life-coaching book, but far away from all other mainstream life coaching guides, finally it definitely helps to stay optimistic and carry on or change.

SPAGHETTI EVERY DAY

HOW IT FEELS TO BE FROM HERE, BUT SOMEHOW NOT

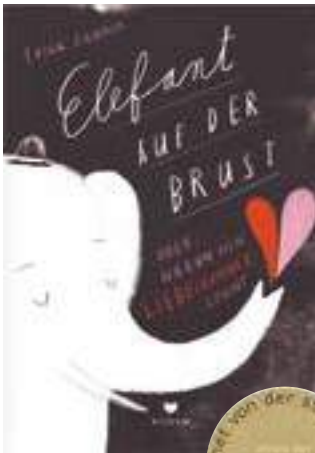

Written and illustrated by Lucia Zamolo
Age 9+ / 128 pages / 16 x 22 cm / full-colour / flexicover

- successful author of *Red is beautiful
- hot topic! migration, identity
- nominated for the most important german award for youth literature

„Where are you from“ - „From Warendorf.“ - „No, where are you REALLY from?“

This question is more than often the beginning of almost every conversation with new people. Lucia 's father is from Italy, but she is born in Germany. As many people with migration background, she grew up like a trained dog, always explaining her family background to foreigners. But what about identity, what about privacy?

This book is serious, but funny – you will find out many things to think over.

ELEFANT ON CHEST

OR: WHY IT'S WORTH TO GET YOUR HEART BROKEN

Written and illustrated by Lucia Zamolo
Age 10+ / 96 pages / 16 x 22 cm / full-colour / flexicover

- award: one of the most beautiful books (GER)
- topic: broken heart, loneliness, friendship, family and selflove

This book is inspired by personal conversations and observations made by the author. Just like the first book it is a mixture of funny but also sad moments describing what it is like to deal with lovesickness – which feels like a big elephant is sitting on your chest.

Of course, there is no general way how to heal a broken heart and most of the times it is a very hard period in your life but you also learn a lot about yourself and, moreover, you realise: you are not alone! Romantic love is not the only kind of love in life. There are friends and family and pets – and this book!

PEACE HAS BROKEN OUT

Written by Willi Weitzel

Illustrated by Verena Wugeditsch

Age 3+ / 24 pages / 22,9 x 27,9 cm / full-colour
hardcover with hot-foil stamping

- topics: peace, understanding war, teaching value
- easy way of explaining difficult topics
- famous author/actor/reporter

When war broke out in Ukraine, the youngest among us in particular were confused about what was happening and why. The need to explain conflict situations to children and to find solutions so that peace can prevail has become a book idea by Willi Weitzel. Unfortunately, there is always war going on somewhere in the world. Whether near or far - the subject is an everyday topic and begins in a small way with a quarrel in kindergarten. In Peace has Broken out children enter in a dialogue between father and daughter, encourages discussion and gives the chance to enter into conversation. After all, what is more important than that freedom, justice and love have their place in life and remain so?

Willi Weitzel, known from »Willi Wills Wissen« and many other children's programs, received the Grand Prize of the Academy for Children's and Youth Literature in November 2022!

'What exactly are you?' the hedgehog asks the rabbit with no nose. 'Well, I'm just a rabbit,' he replies. At least, that's what he's always believed. But then, by chance, he discovers that there's something unusual about him. Ashamed of how he looks, he won't let anyone see him.

Until one day, he is found by a little girl. She likes the rabbit just the way he is. When he finally feels happy with himself and his new life, something unexpected happens...

'A charming story about being who you are and feeling loved. [...] Gorgeous, lush illustrations' – Trouw
'Rarely has a story about doubting, searching and coming home been so beautifully told as in this picture book. The illustrations are reminiscent of children's drawings and depict a vulnerable rabbit who unexpectedly finds a new home and becomes the happiest rabbit in the world.' – German Academy for Children's and Youth Literature

YOU DON'T LOOK GAY

Written and illustrated by Julius Thesing
Age 10+ / 96 pages / 16 x 22 cm / full-colour
flexicover printed in two colours on pink paper

- topic: coming out and homophobic discrimination

»When I say fag I am not talking about you.«
»Hasn't there been done so much lately? You are even allowed to marry now!« It seems like homophobia does not play a major role in Western societies. But appearances are deceptive. Homophobic language is not always used consciously and that is the problem. Such comments are still part of my everyday life –and they still hurt. The author writes about personal experiences and his black and white illustrations convey emotions that come along with discriminative language.

»I want to raise awareness without wagging a finger – however sometimes it has to be an extended middle finger – but always with the prospect to reach out to each other.«

• longseller since 1984!

• a story about peace and understanding

On opposing banks of a river lived two farmers and their families. As each farmer went about his daily chores, he gazed across the river to the farmer on the other side and was jealous. The farmers' wives were just as unhappy, even going so far as to insult each other across the water. This made their husbands even angrier and they threw rocks at each other, but each one fell short. The only time the farmers and their wives were content was at midday, when it was too hot to work. One day, as the children sat by the river, they saw that the water level had fallen enough to reveal the stones and allow them to cross. The boy and girl meet every day to tell each other about life on the other side of the river. When the parents discover the secret of their midday meetings, they decide to build a bridge.

HUNNY, BUNNY OD SUNNY?

Age 3+ / 36 pp. / 20,9 x 29,4 cm /
full-colour / hardcover

The three young rabbits Hunny, Bunny and Sunny look exactly the same. Even their mother has difficulties to keep them apart. And of course they have fun in tricking others by ... That is why they have difficulties in making friends as the other animals want to know who is who! After an expedition however the three rabbits realise: they may look alike but also they are somehow unique. Just like their friends the squirrel, the fox and the hedgehog.
