Iris Samartzi creates a magnificent world of a little girl who wants more and more for herself and her best friend Tata, highlighting the importance and meaning of true friendship.

MUM I HAVE SOMETHING TO TELL YOU

(RIGHTS SOLD IN GREEK)

This book is the creative expression of grief, the emotional manifestation of pain that emerges from true loss: the early loss of a mother.

EMA IS ALONE

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

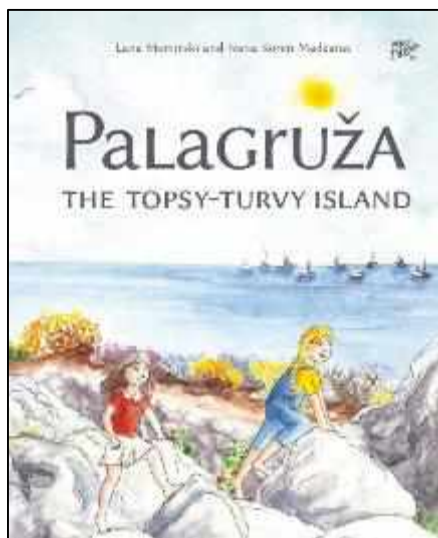

The story about Ema deals with an important topic of our time: the way people perceive each other. In a playful way the story opens the readers' eyes to the wrongs implied in superficial ways of looking at others.

PALAGRUŽA, THE TOPSY-TURVY ISLAND

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

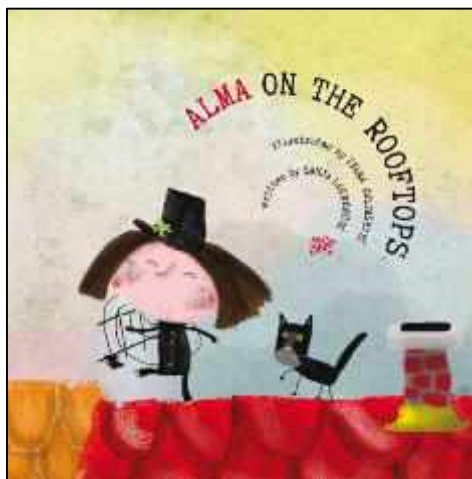

The heroine of this story is Gorjana, who must cope with a great change in her life: her father got a job as a lighthouse keeper and now she is moving with her family to a faraway island in the Adriatic Sea. It is lonely and strange with no children to play with...

ALMA ON THE ROOFTOPS

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

On the day she chooses to be a chimney sweep the little girl Alma is exploring roofs and chimneys (with her cat). She finds expected and unexpected things...

THE MOCKING PARROT

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

A parrot has run away from the zoo to the woods. For the first time it meets various animals and finds all of them ridiculous for some reason – until a fox appears and teaches it a lesson.

THE FLAWLESS MIRROR

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

The book is written and illustrated by Agata Lučić who uses humorous and expressive illustrations and narrative to invite readers – primarily young females – to look in the flawless mirror and to accept their bodies as they are, with a smile on their face. This title was awarded a special mention in Bologna 2023.

CRAZY HOUSE

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

A child with a 'slow parachute' jumps from the roof of their building and describes the balconies next to which they fly. They then climb the stairs and informs us about the interior of the apartments and their occupants. Each of the tenants is unique in their own way. Descriptions of the occupants of the crazy house are fanciful, vivid, and amusing. Yet, regardless of the harmless 'madness' of each of the tenants, in general they respect each other, and all together form a harmonious whole.

NIGHT ON EARTH

(RIGHTS SOLD IN CROATIAN)

As night falls, the world we see is changing. What seemed familiar under daylight now becomes strange and mysterious. The author of this picture books sees Night as a woman in a starry dress, a queen both young and old, who arrives with her suite of nocturnal creatures and blends dream with reality.

SNOW WHITE

It was a winter day, and it was snowing. As the flakes fell from the sky like feathers, a Queen raised her eyes to observe them and pricked her finger. Three drops of blood fell on the snow. The red of blood was so beautiful on that whiteness that the Queen thought: how I wish I had a little daughter with hair as black as ebony, skin as white as snow, and lips as red as blood.

THE LITTLE MERMAID

(RIGHTS SOLD IN ITALIAN)

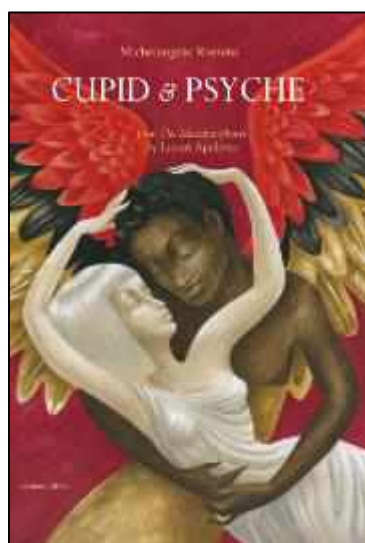

The famous fairy tale by H. C. Andersen beautifully illustrated and narrated by Michelangelo Rossato. This new version, while remaining faithful to the original, reveals the extreme courage, nobility, and determination of the protagonist, more than her romantic character.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

(RIGHTS SOLD IN ITALIAN)

For many years, Love and Psyche's fairy tale has been considered the most beautiful of all time and in this book, Michelangelo Rossato gives it a special light by offering it to readers of all ages.

SANTA'S CAT

(RIGHTS SOLD IN ITALIAN)

The elves, the reindeer, the letters: you think you know everything about Santa, but I bet you ignore that the good old man with a white beard has a cat: me, Rufus, with orange fur and long moustache. A wonderful book for a very special Christmas!
