Picture Books

ANYTHING

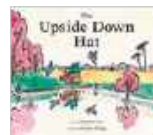

By Rebecca Stead, illustrated by Gracey Zhang

A magical book about the way wishes create a space in our hearts—big enough for hope, big enough for home, big enough for the future. Newbery Award–winning author Rebecca Stead’s debut picture book explores the bravery it takes to meet uncertainty and to hope. With art from acclaimed artist Gracey Zhang, Anything paints a tender picture of a father and daughter moving into a new home that will resonate with every young reader who wishes the world could be less challenging. It is also a powerful reminder that sometimes making a wish is a way of telling ourselves we’re ready for something new.

HOW TO SPOT A MERMAID

By Jane Yolen, illustrated by Sally Deng

Everyone wants to be friends with a mermaid, but you can only befriend one once you spot one. And who better to teach you how than fantasy writer superstar Jane Yolen? Mermaids are the most mysterious and charming creatures of them all. As you know, they can be shy, and they scare easily, so finding one can be tricky business. But if you find the right body of water, sit very still, and are willing to share your goldfish crackers, you might just be lucky enough. Once you’ve seen a mermaid, you’ve achieved the first step to maybe, possibly, forming a one-of-a-kind friendship. This funny step-by-step guide with unique insight into what mermaids are and how they behave will appeal to parents and kids for its hook, humor, and eye-catching illustrations. Teachers and librarians will love how it models observational science/fieldwork and be delighted to have a new Jane Yolen title!

THIS IS MY BRAIN
A Book on Neurodiversity
By Elise Gravel

Each of us has a brain. Though all our brains look pretty the same, every brain works differently.

In this seriously funny book, Elise Gravel celebrates the many wonderful ways humans think and illustrates that learning how different brains think, feel, and act can help us grow ... and keep our brains happy! Using her distinctive comic-style art and her unique talent to explain complicated information in simple and hilarious ways, Gravel explores the many different jobs the brain does and how each person's brain works uniquely. This is accessible non-fiction with a fun and entertaining overview of neurodiversity that will appeal to educators, parents, and kids.

WHEN YOU FIND THE RIGHT ROCK
By Mary Lyn Ray, illustrated by Felicita Sala

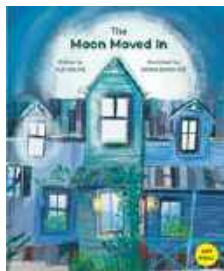

Somewhere a rock is waiting for you. Maybe it is a rock from the heart of a mountain, that will remind you of how big you are inside, too. Maybe it is a rock washed by the sea, that knows all about the backs and forths and ups and downs of things. Maybe it is a small rock, just the right size to close your hand around, and know that the rock is with you, and it is just right. Poet Mary Lyn Ray and artist Felicita Sala offer a marvelous exploration of the special relationship children find with the natural world, and the fascination and friendship they find in special rocks.

THE MOON MOVED IN

By Sue Soltis, illustrated by Sonia Sánchez

A gorgeously written and illustrated story of friendship and patience and our power to connect, even from far away. Stella has nearly given up hope that anyone will ever come live in the empty house next door—but then the Moon moves in. The Moon doesn't bring a moving truck, and it has nothing to hang on its walls. But the Moon does love to garden, and Stella loves keeping it company. Between the Moon's snap peas and Stella's earthworms, an unlikely friendship begins to bloom—until they realize there are many others who need the Moon just as much.

YOU ARE HOME

By Bex Tobin Fine, illustrated by Andrés Landazábal

A beautifully written book that will reassure and inspire young readers going through housing transitions, as well as anyone who has ever looked for—and finally found—a home. When a child loses her home, she embarks on a journey toward rebuilding not only her sense of place but her sense of belonging. As she meets other children living in various housing situations, she wonders: What is home? Is it a place? A person? Is it the stories we tell or the artwork we create? Or is home a feeling, a sense of connection and, ultimately, hope?

CONSTRUCTION SITE: GARBAGE CREW TO THE RESCUE!

By Sherri Duskey Rinker, Illustrated by AG Ford

The construction crew is back and ready to help renovate! Working together with new friends—garbage trucks, roll-off trucks, container delivery trucks, and more!—they'll help refurbish old homes, setting up dumpsters and garbage cans; sorting trash, recycling, and compost; and transporting the garbage away.

A fleet of heroes, in they drive; the whole earth shakes as they arrive.

Rumbling, roaring, rolling through, they're big and strong (and stinky, too!)

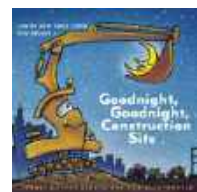

It's the mighty GARBAGE CREW!

In this latest picture book in the series that has thus far placed every book on the NYT bestseller list, the construction crew embarks on a new and exciting adventure: renovating rundown houses! With the help of garbage trucks (front loaders! side loaders! rear loaders!), the team is ready to clean up mounds of paper, junk, and trash; rotten food, all gross and smashed; bottles, cans in every size; and things ... they just can't recognize! Sherri Duskey Rinker's playful rhyming text and AG Ford's vibrant illustrations make cleaning up fun from start to finish. Little construction fans will love watching trucks, both familiar and new, work together as a team to rescue these rundown houses and turn them into renovated homes.

IN BETWEEN PLACES
By Alex Killian, illustrated by Grady McFerrin

Sometimes you know just where you are going. Sometimes you don't. Sometimes you find yourself in an in-between place. A place that is neither here or there. A place where you can go up or down, left or right. So how do you know which way to go.

This lyrical and thought-proving book reminds us all that sometimes we just need to take a leap and we might find ourselves exactly where we need to be.

LITTLE MONSTER SAYS GOODNIGHT
By David Slonim

Getting ready for bed is a blast, thanks to a relatable little monster who does things, well, just a little differently ...With Momster's help, Little Monster gets ready for bed: he brushes his fangs (leaving gobs of fang paste everywhere), enjoys some bedtime books (as in, he eats them), and asks his parents to see if there's a monster under the bed (there is—good!). That's right—even monsters must get ready for bed, and Little Monster's nighttime rituals will encourage all little monsters to go to sleep!

HUGGED BY THE NIGHT

By Harold Green, Illustrated by Karabo Poppy

Spoken-word poet Harold Green's debut picture book Hugged by the Night is at once a reassuring lullaby for bedtime fears and an affirmation of the beauty and power of Black identity. As darkness settles over the forest, three animals gaze up at the Night Sky and wonder how they, too, can be as confident, proud, and fearless as She is. Hearing their wishes, the Sky takes the animals into her arms and, with a gentle embrace, bestows each one with a powerful and transformative gift. Soothing and richly lyrical, Harold Green brings his vibrant poeticism to this new folktale. With luminous art by Karabo Poppy, Hugged by the Night is at once a reassuring lullaby for bedtime fears and an affirmation of the beauty and power of Black identity.

DARK NIGHTS AND GLOWING LIGHTS A Muslim Book of Opposites

By Hena Khan, illustrated by Mehrdokht Amini

This fourth addition to the highly successful Concepts of the Muslim World series explores Islamic culture through the concept of opposites. Accessible and original, this book introduces children to opposites in relation to the basic principles of Islam. Through beautiful mixed-media illustrations and rhyming read-aloud text, opposites are demonstrated as things that can be seen in everyday Muslim culture, such as the hot burning oud incense and the barakah (blessing) of cold rain. Featuring informative backmatter in the same vein as the previous books in the series, this book will appeal to educators looking for picture books about Islam or world religions and families eager to explore diverse religions with their kids or looking for picture books that reflect their own culture/faith.

BLACK BOY, RISE

By Brynne Barnes, illustrated by Bryan Collier

This empowering anthem celebrates the beauty of black boyhood in all its brilliance and complexity. Who told you to leap, black boy, like a rainbow stretched in sky? In today's America, black boys are too often shamed and shunned for expressing emotions (from joy to anger, sadness, and fear), expected to achieve despite the systems that set them up for failure, and taught that others can—and will—hurt them with no consequences. This poetic picture book does not shy away from the terrible truths in America's past and present treatment of black boys, but it also refuses to stay weighed down. In this moving anthem of hope and joy, poet Brynne Barnes and four-time Caldecott honoree artist Bryan Collier offer a way to reclaim the narrative of black boyhood and show it for all it truly is: the richness of the past, the tenacity of the present, and the magnificent promise of the future.

I ATE UP ALL THE RICE

By Do Nguyet Ha, illustrated by Le Phuong Quynh

Read the world to change the world! This artful picture book is about a picky eater who learns to love rice when he is touched by magic that teaches him about the grain's rich history. Originally published in Vietnam by the nonprofit Room to Read, the book is beautifully revised for this global edition. Minh is a picky eater, but when he accidentally spills his bowl of rice, he finds himself ushered into a magical alternate reality: he's inside the Vietnamese folktale "The Magic Grain of Rice"! As he tends and harvests the rice himself, he learns the mythology around rice and why it is so much work to grow. Steeped in magical realism, this parable about food waste and climate change is perfect for picky eaters—and rice lovers, too!

MARIAM DREAMS
The Story of Mariam Al-Shaar, Soufra, and a Food Truck of Hope
By Leila Boukarim, illustrated by Sona Avedikian

An unforgettable story about how one woman can make a tremendous difference. This picture book biography tells the story of Mariam Al-Shaar, who founded Soufra, an NGO catering company that employs women in the refugee camp Bourj el Barajneh in Beirut, Lebanon, which was established in 1948 to accommodate displaced Palestinians. Soufra's goal is to help the women in the camp connect to their culture and make a living. Through Soufra, Mariam is helping build a community while proving that each of us can make a difference in other people's lives. A moving, poignant story with current and historical importance, this book will start conversation about women, about refugees, and about Palestine, while appealing to people of all backgrounds.

E-I-UFO OLD MACDONALD HAD A FARM
By Zach von Zonk, illustrated by Benjamin Chaud

In this laugh-out-loud intergalactic twist on the classic children's song, Old MacDonald had a farm—that is, until an alien spirits it away in his UFO. Now, Old MacMartian has a farm—in outer space—and young readers will delight in the (literally) out-of-this-world hijinks that ensue when cows, pigs, sheep, and more create chaos in the alien's realm! This mash-up of a familiar tale with the zaniness of a farm in space will delight young readers and their parents. A humorous picture book by debut author Zach von Zonk, paired with the invitingly playful style of notable illustrator Benjamin Chaud (The Bear's Song and I Didn't Do My Homework Because ... series), this is a perfect extension of our successful farm-themed publishing and celebrates the timeless appeal of a classic nursery rhyme.

THE WORLD ENTIRE

The Untold True Story of Extraordinary Rescue from World War II

By Elizabeth Brown, illustrated by Melissa Castrillón

Everyone knows Oskar Schindler and his famous list, but few have heard of Aristides de Sousa Mendes—a Portuguese diplomat who saved thousands in World War II and whose story is only starting to be better known. Now, a gorgeous picture book biography tells the true and powerful story of Mendes, who, against his government's commands, helped refugees flee France to Portugal to escape the Nazis. In one of the greatest acts of individual rescue in all of WW II, Mendes saved tens of thousands of people, including the artist Salvador Dalí and H.A. and Margret Rey, the creators of Curious George. He and his family would pay dearly for it, but Mendes never regretted his actions, believing to the very end of his life that every life is worth saving. As the Talmud states, "He who saves a single life, saves the world entire."

WHEN A TREE FALLS

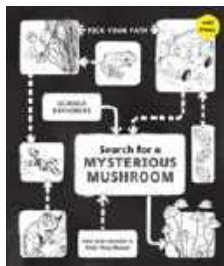

How Nurse Logs Nurture New Life in the Forest

By Kristen Pendreigh, illustrated by Elke Boschinger

A tree sways in the forest, soaking up the sun. She is a place to grow, to rest, and to shelter. But what happens after a tree falls? The answer will surprise you and make your heart soar. This lyrical non-fiction picture book explores the life of a tree from its days lifting up toward the light, housing wildlife in its boughs, to its remarkable second act after having fallen due to wildfire or drought or just having lived out its long life. A tree's second life is often as a nurse log, which is key to a forest's survival. Nurse logs provide a nutrient-rich space for new seedlings to thrive, shelter small animals, and host different species of fungi, lichens, mosses, and ferns. And, over time, a new tree's roots wrap around the log, beginning the cycle anew.

MAKE A PRETTY SOUND

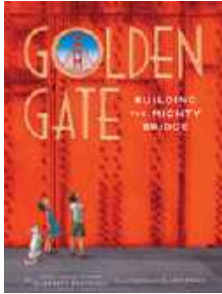

A Story of Ella Jenkins
By Traci N. Todd, illustrated by Eleanor Davis

A beautiful picture book biography about Ella Jenkins, “The First Lady of Children’s Folk Song,” and her contribution to children’s music education. Ella Jenkins is considered the first lady of children’s music. At a time when children’s music was mostly novelty songs and movie soundtracks, she believed that music could be a powerful tool to teach. From the very beginning, she believed that a child’s natural curiosity and good nature could be fed by introducing them to the folk rhythms, music, and dance of cultures from all over the world. This book tells Ella’s story from the time she was a young child, first learning about music through her Uncle Flood playing harmonica, to her encounters with racial discrimination, and finally her involvement with the folk music movement and her discovery that music could be a powerful tool to teach children and bridge cultures, leading her to perform and work with children on all seven continents (including Antarctica!).

SAFE CROSSING

By Kari Percival

How does an amphibian cross the road? With the help of the Amphibian Migration Team! Artful nonfiction about a citizen scientist who acts as a crossing guard for migrating amphibians—and eventually helps build them a tunnel to safety! Every spring, frogs and salamanders must travel from their upland homes to the woodland pools where they were born to mate. Unfortunately, roads constructed through their habitat have made the journey dangerous for these slow-moving animals. Many never reach their destination. But with the help of the Amphibian Migration Team, there is hope for a safe crossing.

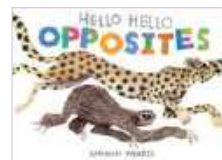

Inquisitive and motivational, this nonfiction picture book by Kari Percival offers a peek at the challenges amphibians face to survive and reproduce and the ways young citizens can speak up to defend the environment.

KIDQUEST:

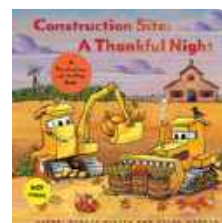

The game where kids find out what grown-ups were like as kids!

By Ariane de Bonvoisin, Everest van der Zwan

What were the adults kids love like as kids? KIDQUEST helps kids find out! With 100 cards in eight categories (Home, School, Friends, Work, Personality, Inner Life, Big Life, and Humor), kids ask adults thoughtful as well as “just for fun” questions. The result? More connected relationships, and lots of laughs! Perfect for game night, car rides, bedtime, or during a meal-anytime, really! A bonus game component lets kids give points to an adult’s responses and a “Celebration” card lets kids ask for anything they want! Let the kid questing begin!

Deck, $12.95, 3 3/4 x 3 1/8 in, Box with 112 cards and instruction sheet, Fall 2024

LITTLE WITCH'S ORACLE DECK

By Ariel Kusby

Fantasy fans and witches-in-training can find magical insight and inspiration with this beautiful, whimsical oracle deck by the creator of The Little Witch's Book of Spells. The Little Witch's Oracle Deck is an accessible divination tool for kids who want to explore the enchantment and mystery of oracles and fortune-telling. More accessible than traditional tarot, this oracle deck is designed in an intuitive, easy-to-understand format that pulls on universal archetypes all kids naturally understand, like the Dragon, the Best Friend, the Dream, and the Star. Each card is paired with a magical message and a ritual suggestion, which allow the user to connect deeply with the meaning of the card. A perfect companion to The Little Witch's Book of Spells, this deck is a tool that encourages little witches to look at situations through different perspectives, develop intuition, and listen to inner wisdom in order to make healthy decisions, all while adding a dash of magic to their lives.

Box deck, $18.95, 3 ¾ x 5 ½ in, 45 pp, 48 full-color cards, booklet, Fall 2024
