Tele-postcards from Plic

This story is the chronicle of a journey to the planet Plic, the diary of an astronaut and a compilation of postcards sent to his aunt Lucinda. It is all that and much more. Imagine a planet so small it's invisible to the naked eye. This is Plic, the destination of an intrepid astronaut in the year 2222. In this tiny world, he discovers the fascinating life of the Plicans and tells his aunt Lucinda, through daily postcards, everything he sees and learns about their culture and customs. His stay will be full of surprises...

PS- He will not return alone.

DÍA CINCO:

Tu querido:

Los plíquicos caminan muy raro. Y ya averigüé por qué.

A simple vista son seres amables y pacíficos y no parece que tengan ninguna guerra ni problema entre ellos. Pero eso no siempre ha sido así, tío. Solo desde hace algunos años, pues antes vivían a las patadas por culpa de la falta de espacio. Se pisaban los pies unos a otros cuando salían a dar un paseo o cuando iban a bailar. Y eso generaba unas batallas descomunales que comenzaban, terminaban y volvían a empezar, pues nunca faltaba un plíquico que le pisara los pies a otro.

Of Little Birds

Gustavo Roldán

A wild bird tries to persuade a caged bird of the joys of freedom, but she remains hesitant. The next day, he returns with two companions and they perform a rain dance, hoping to show her a rainbow. As the rain falls, the three wild birds lift her cage into the air, carrying her on a flight. Finally, the cage door opens, and the captive bird experiences the beauty of freedom for the first time.

Magela Ronda

Ronda (Benidorm, 1970) has a degree in Information Sciences from the Autonomous University of Barcelona. She began her professional career in the world of books as a designer and later as an editor and writer of a number of titles for children and YA.

Neus Caamaño

After graduating in Fine Arts from Universitat de Barcelona she studied at the Arts & Crafts School Francesca Bonnemaison, known as Escola de la Dona (Barcelona). She currently develops her work in the fields of advertising illustration and picture books. Besides, she teaches creativity and plastic expression workshops for children.

The Rebellion of the Letters

This captivating story delves into the world of letters, where the noble 'A' sounds the alarm, rallying its fellow letters, against a monstrous threat. The venerable 'Z' unveils the creature's sinister appetite: misspellings, misused words, absurd abbreviations, and misplaced accents. Every linguistic misstep summons this monstrous evourer.

In a desperate bid for survival, the letters unite, crafting heartfelt appeals to both young and old, pleading for their salvation.

Venturing into the realm of meta-literature, the author urges readers to become guardians of language to ensure that the letters continue to dance across the page, inspiring generations to come.

—Este plato que ahora os comeréis estaba total, absoluta y radicalmente prohibido para los Sanjurjo. Pero no solo eso. Desde que se habían mudado a la casa en el monte no habían vuelto a comer verdura, ni un gramo, y de fruta, ni un mordisco. Y eso que tenían un espléndido huerto, al menos tan grande como un campo de fútbol.

—¿Dónde está esa casa mágica que convertiría mi sueño en realidad? —exclama Abel, divertido.

—¿Te hace gracia? Aquella humilde casa había sido la morada de una meiga. Una vieja bruja de no menos de doscientos años, con muchas más verrugas que dientes y cuyos cabellos no conocían ni el agua ni el jabón. Se pasaba el día hablando sola o con alguno de sus animales, que la seguían a todas partes, a saber: un gato negro tuerto, un sapo grande como un melón y una rata grasienta que adoraba entrocarse su cola en los tobillos de la vieja. Cuando se reía a carcajadas, cosa que hacía varias veces al día sin venir a cuento, los pájaros, aterrorizados por el estruendo, huían de los bosques, y las moscas, enloquecidas, volaban atraídas por el hedor que desprendía su aliento. Los pobres caían muertos en cuanto se acercaban demasiado a ella. Lin que no caían, se las comía el inmenso sapo, o se quedaban ahí alfinbrando la casa.

—¡Eh, qué asco, abuelo! —se queja María.

Stories, Vegetables and Everything Else

Children and vegetables are often an explosive combination. Severo knows this all too well. A few days ago he lost his patience when he was trying to get his granddaughter, María, to eat the broccoli he had prepared. It was all recorded on the mobile phone of Abel, his eldest grandson, and now he doesn't know what to do. Will he find a way to stop the children from wanting to run away every time there are vegetables to eat?

A story about vegetables, yes. A story about stories, too. A book about everything else.

An exquisite novel about the stories we tell ourselves to care for each other and to be together.

The Lead Key

The book tells the story of Grandfather Thirteen and his grandchildren. Severo, a rich and sullen man, gathers his grandchildren in his mansion to test them and decide who will inherit his fortune. After following the clues, the most generous and grateful are chosen. Thanks to the inheritance, they will be able to fulfil their dreams: to open an innovative school and a sugar-free candy factory. But the most important part of the grandfather's legacy will not be financial, but the possibility of dreaming a different future. And above all, to be able to share it.

Con todo, Polo en realidad sí sufre. Hasta que su tío Roger había empezado a claudicar, su vida había sido buena y tranquila. Echaba la vista atrás y consideraba que, para un niño doblemente huérfano desde que apenas tenía tres meses, sus noventa y dos años habían sido una extraordinaria remonta. Se lo debía todo a Roger. Después de llorar con amargura el accidente que se había llevado a su hermana Claire y a su marido Patrick, Roger se había retirado voluntariamente del Ejército y había consagrado sus días a la educación de su sobrino. Lo tuvo claro cuando, hacía ya más de veintidós años, al volver del funeral de Claire y de su marido, vio a Polo tumbado en la cuna, frágil y vulnerable, en silencio y hecho un ovillo.

En el siguiente desayuno ya no hubo tazas rotas. Roger, algo dolorido por la caída del día anterior, no tuvo fuerzas para levantarse y prefirió quedarse en la cama.

Polo tuvo que ayudarlo a tomar el café, que bebió a pequeños sorbos. No quiso probar las tostadas. Cosa rara. Era una de las cantinelas matutinas de su tío: «Si no comes algo por la mañana, te devorará el día». Cuando Polo era pequeño, su tío se lo decía con voz profunda, queriendo provocar en el niño miedo y risa a partes iguales. Decía «te devorará el día» mientras con sus manos simulaba las fauces de un monstruo aterrador. Esas tonterías siempre se le habían dado bien a Roger.

A Polo le sonó un aviso en el móvil. El primer reparto de la jornada. A partir del aviso tenía como máximo diez minutos para estar en la Central. El señor Kere, el gerente, había nacido en Suiza y era muy estricto con el tiempo.

—Intolerable, joven. Diez minutos son diez minutos. Si quiséramos que fueran once minutos, en el aviso a nuestros repa-

Sentinels

Orphaned and raised by his uncle Roger, Polo works as a delivery boy while caring for his ailing guardian. The story explores the interplay of time, pain, and happiness. Roger, a former soldier, refuses the “migration” offered by the Friendly Agency (Double A), an organization that quantifies quality of life through an algorithm.

Influenced by Mariana and the Sentinels, Polo sabotages Double A's attempts to intervene. In the end, Roger dies peacefully surrounded by Polo and Mariana, escaping Double A's control.

Lupita sabía también que mucho de ese deseo de mejorarlo compartía, desde su experiencia juvenil, con sus ideas de emprender, de cultivar un oficio, algo que le había venido a su propia madre. Lejos de pensar en Mayeli y sacó el cuaderno donde anotaba ideas y pensamientos. Lo abrió en la primera página, en la que había escrito, con garabato, todos los nombres posibles para su futuro negocio. Hopo hasta encontrar los dibujos y planos para su salón de belleza. Sacó sus colores e iluminó los trazos, concentrada en esta del color, su brillantez, la suavidad del papel. Y poco a poco el dibujo fue adquiriendo color; las horas pasaron y el día terminó en noche. Su mamá la llamó desde la cocina, la cena estaba lista y su mamá le llegaría en unos minutos. Lupita dejó el cuaderno abierto en la cama y los colores se fueron sobre la colcha. Miró su celular nuevamente, pero no había ningún mensaje de Mayeli, quizá estuviera bien. Señaló del cuarto y bajó a cenar, su papá acaba de llegar.

4

La mañana estaba brumosa, pero el director esperaba a Mayeli en la entrada de la escuela. Su semblante era serio y tenía los brazos cruzados. Era hora de tomar cartas en el asunto.

Mayeli venía detrás de un grupo de estudiantes por el camino que conducía a la escuela. Caminaba sola, como siempre, con el rostro adusto por tener que levantarse tan temprano para llegar a tiempo a la escuela, aunque hoy su semblante tenía un dejo de felicidad, algo raro en ella.

—Hola, Mayeli —la saludó el director cuando la tuvo enfrente. Mayeli le contestó sin mucha cortesía. No creía que el director estuviera ahí por alguna razón en particular, y mucho menos por ella.

—Necesito hablar contigo —dijo el director secamente. Mayeli se detuvo en el acto. ¿Había escuchado bien? El director quería hablar con ella. ¿Por qué, qué había hecho ahora, de qué la acusaban ahora?

The Hero of the Pool

Illustrator: Martín Romero

About a family of squirrels that goes on holiday to a large house in a big tree within a hotel complex, with a swimming pool and all mod cons. Everything seems idyllic, but danger is also lurking. And it isn't human, but rather feline.

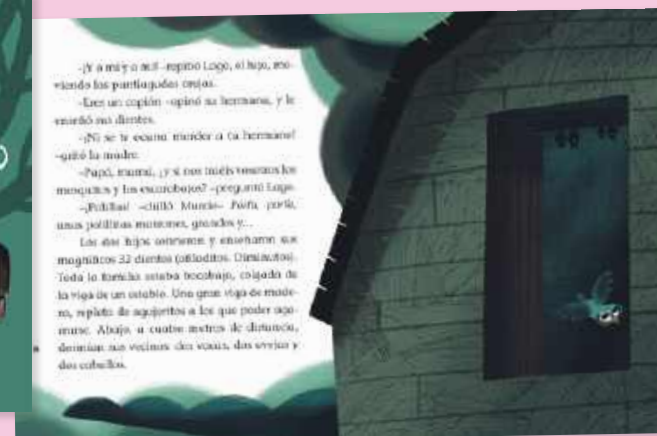

A very entertaining story about family relationships and getting on together on holiday.

And That's Why I Don't Like Cats

Illustrator: Emilio Urberuaga

Martina is a very bright child. At school, she is asked to write about an animal she doesn't like and she decides to write about cats. When she and her friend Elena were in infant's school, a couple of cats took their dummies. Or at least that's what their mothers told them. But not all is as it seems, and a story that starts with cats and dummies ends with... nits!

But What is This?

Illustrator: Lluís Farré

Night is falling and the farm animals are getting ready to go to sleep. All but Mr. and Mrs. Murciélaguez, who go out in search of food. Murcie and Lago, the youngest two members of the family, have to stay in the barn despite their protests. Suddenly, a strange animal appears through the door. "Could this be our cousin, the one who lives abroad?" they ask. But, as Mr. Cabállez knows, bats don't have prickles, do they?

A beautiful literary fable about a ladybug, Enriqueta, who one day wakes up and realises she has lost the five black spots from her shell. When she starts looking for them. Each makes a different use of the spot they have found. Henrietta asks them to return the spots and, in return, she helps meet the need for which they were using them incorrectly. By the end of the day Enriqueta will be happy to have found her spots, but above all for having helped her friends.

1. The Mystery of the Abandoned Dog Poop

Ascensión, Carmen and Rosalía aren't your typical grandmothers. They live with Marcelo, Ascensión's grandson, and share an unusual pastime with him: solving mysteries. This is why they have decided to help their neighbour Margarita to find out who owns the dog that leaves poo in front of the door every day. Their investigation will interfere with the plans of some thieves who just robbed a neighbourhood bank, and these thieves don't even know what's coming.

2. The Mystery of the Sea Bass

The three oldest private investigators in children's mystery novels are back! Following the successful outcome of the first enigma of the abandoned dog poo, the Coscorrón sisters and Marcel launch their brand-new investigation agency. And their first job is a seemingly simple case, about those numbers when waiting your turn at market stalls, which are mysteriously repeated. But as we know, in the world of detectives nothing is as it seems at first glance..

3. The Mystery of the Flying Toilet Paper

The Coscorrón sisters have to travel to New York, where the International Granny Detective Conference is being held, the world's biggest conference of its kind. The Plaza Hotel is full of celebrities. Amid the hubbub there is a mystery: the hotel's toilet paper has all disappeared without explanation. The Coscorróns, Marcel and his new friend Max follow the trail of a culprit. Who will it be?

4. The Mystery of the Katastrophic F.C.

This time the oldest PI's of the children's mystery novels help their favourite football team. The Coscorróns, football coaches? The Katastrophic F.C. hasn't scored a goal for decades and if it continues on this path, will end up in the tenth division. And you will say, what does the 300th lost match have to do with a Coquette Croquette contest? In the world of the Coscorrón Sisters, anything is possible!

5. The Mystery of the Missing Mummy

The research agency is running so smoothly that the Coscorrón sisters and Marcelo decide to treat themselves to a vacation. They decide to go on a coach tour of Egypt. Everything seems to be going well until the coach suffers some strange breakdowns. The sisters can't help it, but investigate what is going on. But soon things get even more complicated: it turns out that an international organization of evildoers intends to plunder the tomb of the pharaoh on the sly! Will they succeed?

Gustavo Roldán

Gustavo Roldán was born in Argentina and currently lives in Barcelona. He publishes in different graphic media and has been exhibiting his work since 1985. Among other awards, he has received the ALIJA Honour List (IBBY-Argentina) on four occasions; the OCTOGONO Award (CIELJ-France); he has been selected twice for the White Ravens and has been shortlisted for the Andersen Award for Argentina. In 2011 he received the Junceda prize.

6. The Mystery of the House of Terror

Gustavo Roldán picks up the baton of Toni Batllori's legacy to give life to the Coscorrón sisters. They share the stroke of the line, the fine sense of humour and the acute observation of reality.

The head of the amusement park that has been installed in the city requires the services of the Coscorrón sisters. For some time now, the attractions have been suffering inexplicable power cuts that cause more than one scare. When they begin to investigate, they see that strange movements are taking place in the horror house.

7. The Mystery of the Phantasmagoric Library

The Chatty Library is a megasilent place until the Coscorrón sisters appear on the scene.

It turns out that some books have mysteriously disappeared without anyone knowing how or why. So they decide to infiltrate in a 'discreet' way: Ascensión joins the romance novel reading club; Carmen pretends to be a user interested in cookery books; and Rosalía borrows thousands of fashion magazines. Will they manage to find out who is robbing the library bit by bit? And Marcel? Will he hide among the shelves until he catches the thieves? Will this be the only mystery?

Shhh. Quiet, please. We are in a library.

Let's Get to Work!

Identical twins Ada and Valentina can't just sit back and watch when they see the damage that the latest storm has caused at the animal shelter. So one day, they come up with the idea of setting up an orangeade stand next to their house. However, it won't be that easy to do what they've set out to, and they'll need the help of all their neighbours... even that of their classmate who they really don't like.

Esa tercera película nos dejó impresionadísimo.

Por ella supimos que Emilka había combatido en la Primera Guerra Mundial con el ejército francés, destacando como un soldado ejemplar. Destinado al batallón de zapadores, hizo famosa su capacidad para cavar trincheras y refugios a velocidad de vértigo. Al final de la contienda había alcanzado el grado de sargento mayor. Recibió la Cruz de Guerra antes de volver a los entrenamientos para participar en los llamados Juegos Olímpicos de la Paz, celebrados en Amberes en 1920, en los que logró otras cuatro medallas de oro. En esta ocasión, con el equipo suizo.

Detective Escartín Series

A series that combines irony, thriller and mystery

1. The Tunnel-Borer

The mysterious disappearance of the young engineer responsible for the machine which makes tunnels for underground railways turns into one of the most hair-raising cases in the career of private investigator Fermin Escartín. Escartín is a detective who has already appeared in other novels by Fernando Lalana

216 pp.

2. The Galindo Affair

Turned out of the university, Professor Fermin Escartín decides to become a private detective. His first case comes to him through an ex-school friend, Gumersindo Llamazares, now a brilliant executive in an insurance company. Escartín has to find the famous impresario Serafín Galindo, an eccentric millionaire, who has disappeared.

208 pp.

3. Amsterdam Solitaire

Four big business-owners accept the challenge of making a beautiful, unique and irreplaceable object out of reach of the wealthy. Months later, when detective Fermin Escartín is invited to attend the presentation of the Amsterdam Solitaire fountain pen, he faces the challenge of unravelling a seemingly flawless, almost perfect and apparently impossible robbery.

4. The Last Corpse

The years have gone by and Fermin Escartín faces what will possibly be his last case: a double investigation that begins with a bloodcurdling murder, continues with an inexplicable mystery and might end up with his own death. It's an amusing but thrilling journey from Monegros to the millionaire bank accounts of Switzerland.

272 pp.

5. Escartín in Lima

Escartín discovers that Elisa Lobo, a retired serial killer, has come back into action for a new job. We don't know how, but someone has convinced her to assassinate PPK, the president of Peru, so Fermin also goes there accompanied by Elisa's son to try to prevent the assassination. As Elisa and Fermin were a couple for several years, if anyone is capable of being one step ahead of the killer, it's Fermin, but... will he succeed?

215 pp.

6. The Unlikely Detective

Composed of three intertwined stories, separated by more than fifty years, Fernando Lalana pays homage to his emblematic character, tracing his life from his origins to his most brilliant period. In a display of autofiction, Lalana also bids a final farewell to Fermin, the best detective novel that has ever come from his hands.
