Dear friends and partners
around the world,

We all remember books that have stayed with us – one that made us laugh, think, or feel seen. Books that comforted us in tough moments. Picture books that amazed us as children – with stories that mirrored our world or illustrations we couldn't get enough of. And sometimes, it's simply the joy of hearing a child say: "Again!"

Books have the power to uplift and connect us, to inspire and delight across generations. We hope that while browsing our new programme, you'll discover exactly these kinds of stories – books full of imagination, heart and soul.

This year, we're proud to present highlights such as The Picture of Dorian Gray – Oscar Wilde's timeless classic in an extraordinary new edition. Join the graphic novel Cat People by multitalented Lea Melcher for a feel-good journey full of romance and feline charm. Climb aboard Lulu, the Loopy Bus on a Mission to Rescue Grandpa – a fast-paced new adventure series with heart, humour, and unexpected heroes.

Our international bestseller dragon returns in Fartypops and Lulu Lavatongue, continuing the wildly successful series with over one million copies sold worldwide. The beloved duo Pepe and Milli are back too – this time trying out new sports in Yayo Kawamura's latest title. And for bedtime snuggles, don't miss the follow-up to the bestselling "Pee and Poo Book": The Good Night Book by Joëlle Tourlonias.

These are just a few of the titles waiting to be discovered – books for the youngest readers, creative minds, big emotions and even bigger adventures.

We're excited to share them with you – and always happy to support you with samples, pricings, or rights information.

Warm wishes,
Your Coppenrath Rights Team

Fartypops and Lulu Lavatongue · Vol. 6

Kai Lüftner / Wiebke Rauers

Being a big brother isn't easy – especially when your little sister suddenly starts spitting fire and everyone celebrates her for it. Everyone except one: Fartypops! Why can Lulu Lavatongue do that – and he can't? A captivating dragon adventure full of heart, humor, and delightfully cheeky fart jokes. This charming story gently explores important family themes such as jealousy, self-confidence, and sticking together.

Lulu the Loopy Bus · Vol. 1
On a Mission to Rescue
Grandpa

Sibylle Wenzel / Phine Wolff

Nelli finds life in sleepy "Dullsville" boring – until her grandma's old camper van Lulu suddenly talks and takes off with Nelli, her quirky neighbor Floh, and cat Mrs. Schmitz. After diving into a lake and turning into a submarine, Lulu leads them into mysterious caves. What they don't know: Nelli's grandpa is missing. The wild ride turns into a rescue – and the start of a true friendship.

Cat People: A Love Story
A Graphic Novel

Lea Melcher

For fans of Heartstopper and beyond, this graphic novel is a cozy, feel-good read for both romance and cat lovers. Mia's quiet New Year's Eve is disrupted when Alfie, the owner's charming nephew, claims the same cat-sitting job. Forced to share the evening, sparks fly – but can Mia trust Alfie? Secrets and surprises unfold in this heart-warming story, full of romance, feline charm, and playful mystery.

THE ICONIC DARK
ROMANCE CLASSIC
BY OSCAR WILDE

The Picture of Dorian Gray

Oscar Wilde

Dorian Gray has it all: youth, wealth, admiration, and social standing. But when he meets the charismatic Lord Henry, he is drawn into a world where pleasure rules and morality fades. Though he sinks into decadence, Dorian's face stays flawless – while his portrait tells another story. Can Basil, the artist, save him? A gothic masterpiece – haunting, unforgettable, and lavishly illustrated in this striking gift book edition.

Three brave friends. A desperate race against encroaching darkness. And a shadowy pact that could change everything. In a last-ditch effort to find Hamish before a looming eclipse, Scott, Scarlett, and Zavah journey to Bragoviszte – the beloved butler's mysterious hometown. But when the village's Festival of Lights is attacked by a deadly creature, the twins set off a chain of events that plays straight into their enemies' ghostly hands...

Werewolf Hunting is a Family Affair · Vol. 1

ISBN 978-3-649-64684-6

1799: After their parents vanish without a trace, twins Scott and Scarlett Oaknight discover their bloodline hides a deadly legacy – they are born werewolf hunters. Thrust into a world of shadows and monsters, they must fight to survive... and uncover the truth that could destroy them.

Vampire Hunting is in the Blood · Vol. 2

Scott and Scarlett Oaknight are drawn into a chilling mystery when their ally Hamish vanishes without a trace. Guided by visions and secrets, they uncover a dark game centuries in the making – and an ancient evil about to rise again.

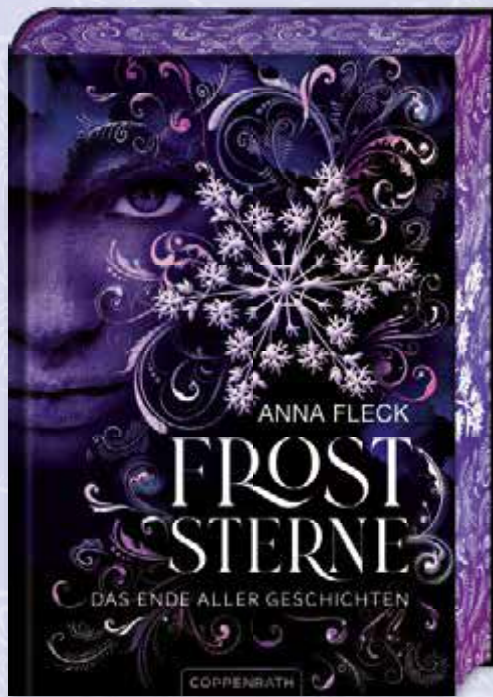

A.E. Leinkenjost studied philosophy and history. His heart has belonged to epic heroic tales, classic adventures and modern nerd culture since his childhood, while his mind focuses on neuroscientific, anthropological, and psychological analyses of stories.

Helge Vogt wanted to be a palaeontologist as a child but soon realized he preferred drawing dinosaurs and monsters rather than digging them up. Today, he works as an illustrator (e.g. "Percy Jackson"), comic artist ("Alisik"), and author for various publishers.

- Cozy fantasy with a strong girl and her loyal animal companions
- A story of friendship, courage, and believing in yourself
- Rich in atmosphere, adventure, and subtle humor
- With blue ink illustrations inside

In the snowy town of Nevja, deep in the frozen North, Fjolla lives with her grandfather Jalo and her tame Arctic fox, Drifa. A true child of winter, she adores her white world, until strange things begin to happen. Bitter storms rage across the land, an eerie layer of ice spreads, the earth trembles... and polar bears keep appearing near the village. Fjolla senses a mysterious bond with the powerful creatures.
Together with her friends Yuki and Aubin, she uncovers an ancient magical secret that once divided their families. Now, the Snowlands are in grave danger and only united can they face what's coming.

Kristina Scharmacher-Schreiber was already filling A4 notebooks with island stories as a child. Today, she is an author and translator who prefers writing on a computer. Her books have received multiple awards. Her love for islands – especially those in the far North – has never faded.

Mareike Ammersken has been studying book illustration at HAW Hamburg since 2016. Long walks in the forest with her dog and her observations of human experiences inspire her atmospheric and emotionally expressive artwork.

- A secret mission, an incredible vehicle – and two kids who couldn't be more different
- Perfect for independent readers and shared storytime
- Hilariously illustrated by award-winning children's book artist Phine Wolff

Nelli is convinced her life in the sleepy town of "Dullsville" couldn't be more boring, until she discovers that Lulu, her grandma's old camper van, is hiding an unbelievable secret. When Nelli pulls a forbidden lever, Lulu suddenly starts to talk and speeds off on a wild ride with Nelli, her quirky neighbor Floh, and the cat Frau Schmitz on board. Their journey leads straight into a lake, where Lulu transforms into a submarine and dives into a mysterious underground cave system. What the kids don't know yet: Nelli's grandfather Vincent has gone missing on a research mission and they've just launched a full-blown rescue operation. As their adventure unfolds, Nelli and Floh begin to realize that Lulu is far more than just a machine and that real friendship often begins where you least expect it.

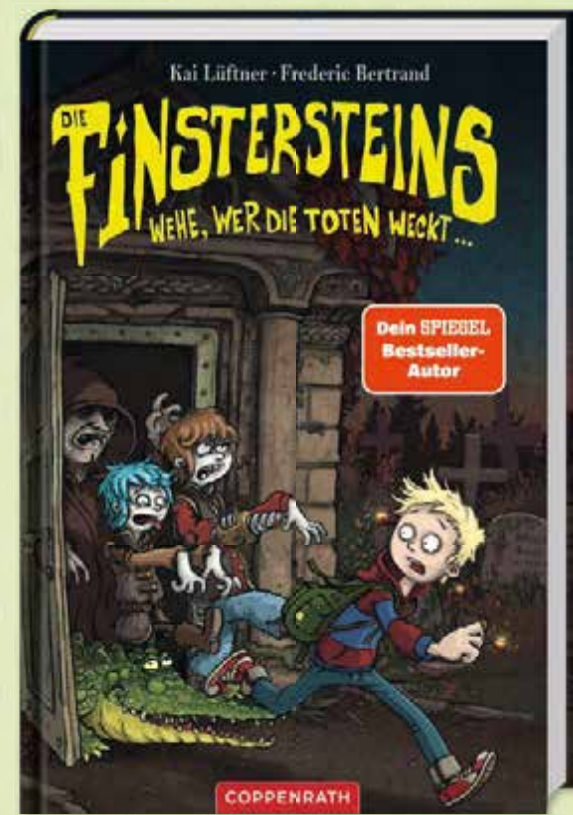

Sibylle Wenzel began her career as a bookseller, studied history and German literature, and worked as a nonfiction editor before turning to writing herself. Today, she writes for television and authors children's books. She lives in Berlin.

Josephine Wolff, also known as Phine or simply "Phi," studied communication design and is based in Berlin. Passionate about visual storytelling, she loves illustrating characters and creating fantastical worlds. Whether working traditionally or digitally, she enjoys a versatile approach – especially in comics, animation, and children's books.

- Drop-dead funny: Loveable antihero meets undead aristocratic family
- Unique blend of spooky humor, mystery, and adventure
- By bestselling author Kai Lüftner (Fartipops)

As the son of a cemetery caretaker, Fred's life is anything but ordinary. While other kids play video games, Fred keeps watch among the tombstones – or stands in as a "professional mourner" at poorly attended funerals. No wonder they call him Fred from the Fredyard. But everything changes when he discovers a crypt guarded by a stone crocodile. Inside, enchanted statues wait in silence... until Fred accidentally brings them to life. Suddenly, an undead aristocratic family – and their crocodile – are haunting the streets of Berlin. And Fred has one BIG problem.

What if a 400-year-old undead family takes over your home? In this fast-paced sequel, Fred faces dark secrets and danger when Uncle Bende disappears – and a mysterious cult closes in.

HOW DOES DEMOCRACY ACTUALLY WORK?

Who's the Boss on the Farm?
Ruprecht Polenz / Sidney von Veh
5+ / 128 pp. / hardcover with relief varnish /
4-colour print / € 14.00
ISBN 978-3-649-64972-4
All rights available

- Clever and humorous farm story introducing children to democracy
- Inspired by the spirit of Animal Farm
- From bestselling author and political voice Ruprecht Polenz
- Illustrated with warmth and wit by rising talent Sidney von Veh

Life on Schulze-Diekamp Farm changes overnight when the humans disappear. Suddenly, the animals must figure out how to live together – and how to make decisions. Should strong Ox Oskar take charge? Or can there be a fair way for everyone – from the smallest chick to the tallest horse – to have a voice?

In this charming and insightful picture book, bestselling author Ruprecht Polenz brings big ideas like fairness, freedom, and participation down to a child's level. Inspired by the spirit of Animal Farm – but with optimism and humor – this modern fable gently explores what makes a healthy democracy work. With lively illustrations and a hopeful message, this story encourages young readers to think about leadership, cooperation, and how we can shape a better world together.

Ruprecht Polenz is a lawyer, father of four, and grandfather. He served for over two decades as a member of the German Bundestag. Today, he is one of the country's most prominent voices for democracy on social media. His book "Do Something!" became a bestseller. With his first children's book, he aims to share the values of freedom, equality, and fairness with the youngest generation.

Sidney von Veh has been studying design since 2023, following an internship at a creative agency. Always carrying a sketchbook, she draws inspiration from picture books and illustrations. Her passion for storytelling and design now comes to life in her first children's book project.

Becoming a professional soccer player – many children dream of it. After his first visit to the stadium, Robin can no longer let go of this wish. From now on, he spends every free minute on the field. But Robin's path to the professional club is different to most: without a youth training centre, but with a lot of passion, discipline and the right amount of composure. International player Robin Gosens tells his story in a rousing and honest way: from his first game with the Bambinis, to his big goal for the German national team.

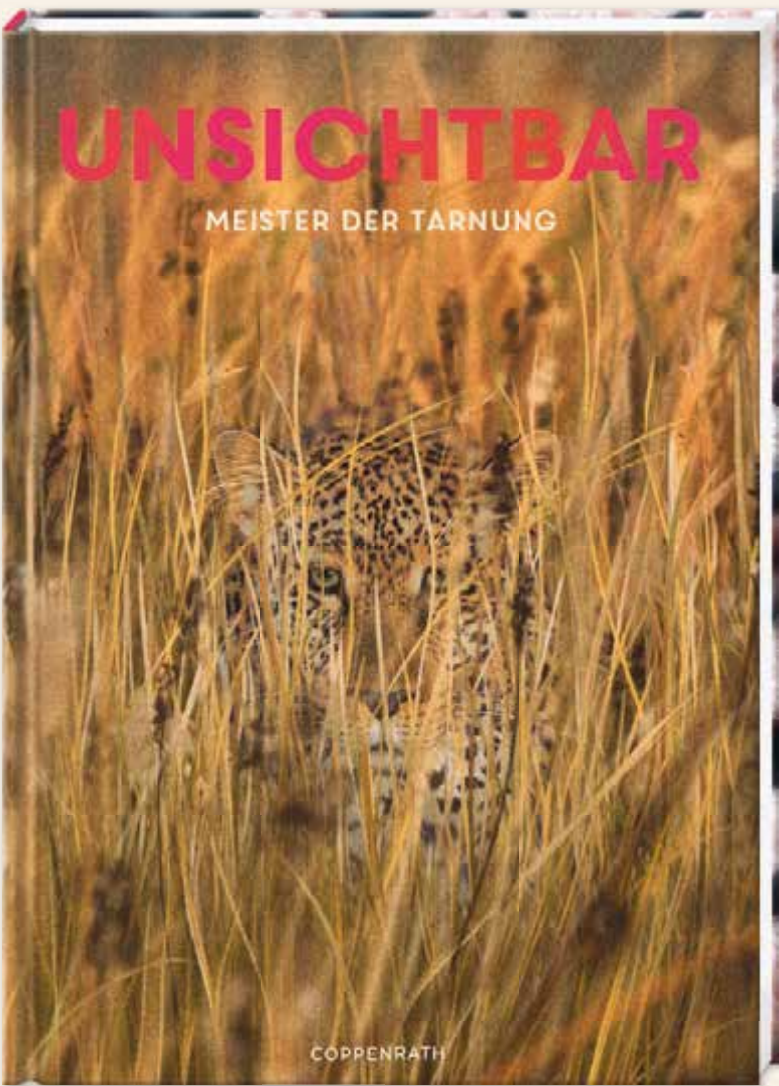

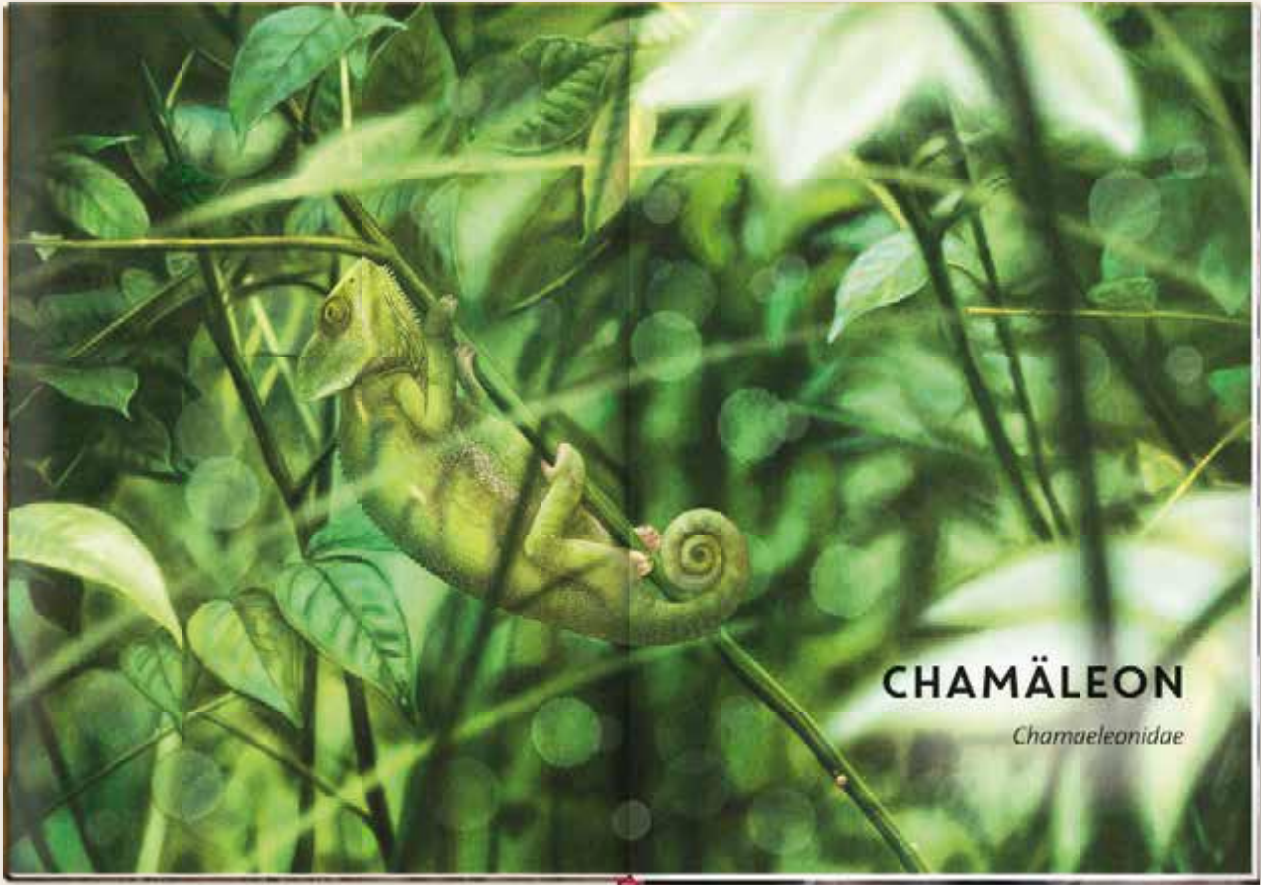

Klara Bühl is one of the brightest talents in German women's football. She played in the Bundesliga at just 15 and soon joined the national team. When she's not on the pitch, she studies media management or crochets – her mascots for the women's team have become small celebrities Klara wants to inspire children to discover the joy of football, chase their goals, and believe in their dreams.

Kaja Reinki works on children's books, video games, interactive apps, comics, and many other creative projects. When she's not drawing, she can be found sewing, crafting, baking, gaming, or tending to her plants. There are never too many interests – and never quite enough time.

A legendary treasure, a perilous adventure, and a ruthless battle for survival...
When young innkeeper's son Jim Hawkins comes into possession of a mysterious old treasure map, he has no idea he's holding the key to the greatest adventure of his life. Together with the brave Dr. Livesey and the noble squire Trelawney, he sets sail in search of the legendary fortune of the infamous pirate Captain Flint. But aboard the Hispaniola, things quickly take a sinister turn – as dark secrets and deadly plots lurk in the shadows of the ship's masts. On the fabled Treasure Island, the line between loyalty and betrayal blurs, and a fierce fight for life and legacy begins.
Brought to life through the extraordinary illustrations of Kai Würbs, this masterfully crafted edition transforms one of the world's greatest literary classics into a true collector's gem.

- The iconic dark romance classic by Oscar Wilde
- Lavishly finished with cold foil, embossed details, and foil-edged pages
- Includes 10 beautifully crafted bonus features

Dorian Gray seems to have it all: youth, wealth, admiration, and social standing. But when he meets the charismatic Lord Henry Wotton through his friend, the painter Basil Hallward, he is drawn into a hedonistic world where morality fades and pleasure reigns. As Dorian dives deeper into a life of indulgence and decadence, he remains untouched by time – his flawless appearance unchanged, no matter the sins he commits. Alarmed, Basil pleads with him to return to the light. But can he save Dorian without losing himself? And what dark secret binds the portrait he once painted to the fate of the man it depicts?
A hauntingly beautiful edition of one of literature's greatest gothic masterpieces – boldly illustrated, richly embellished, and unforgettable.

- Lavishly produced collector's edition with 10 beautifully designed extras
- Charming, detail-rich illustrations by Elli Jäger
- Featuring an exclusive foreword by Kate Macdonald Butler, granddaughter of L. M. Montgomery

Marilla and Matthew Cuthbert had planned to take in a boy to help on their farm – but instead, Anne Shirley arrives: an imaginative, spirited, occasionally stubborn, and endlessly talkative orphan girl. From the moment she steps into Green Gables, Anne turns the lives of the two unmarried siblings upside down.

This heartwarming coming-of-age classic follows Anne's adventures, mishaps, and transformation into a strong young woman whose charm, appreciation for beauty, and vivid imagination win over everyone she meets. Lovingly illustrated by Elli Jäger, this richly adorned edition breathes new life into the timeless Canadian novel that has captivated generations. Includes a selection of period-style extras and a touching foreword by Kate Macdonald Butler, L. M. Montgomery's granddaughter.

Elli Jäger grew up on her own version of Green Gables – a countryside farm surrounded by blooming apple and cherry trees. Inspired by the natural world from an early age, her unique blend of traditional and digital techniques and her eye for delicate detail give her artwork its signature warmth and character.

- 6 gripping crime stories by Edgar Allan Poe
- 11 intricately designed bonus features

Step into the haunting world of Edgar Allan Poe – widely regarded as one of the most influential writers of all time and the true inventor of the detective genre. His masterful tales of mystery laid the foundation for generations of authors to come. Poe's iconic character C. Auguste Dupin became the archetype of the analytical detective and inspired legends like Sherlock Holmes. His protagonists employ cutting-edge investigative techniques that would later form the basis of modern criminology – and even prefigure today's true crime fascination.

This beautifully produced volume gathers six of Poe's most celebrated detective stories: "The Gold-Bug," "Thou Art the Man," "The Man of the Crowd," "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," "The Mystery of Marie Rogêt," and "The Purloined Letter."

A must-have for lovers of classic crime fiction and literary innovation.

- A timeless classic that connects generations
- Illustrated by renowned Dutch artist Marjolein Bastin

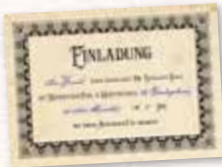

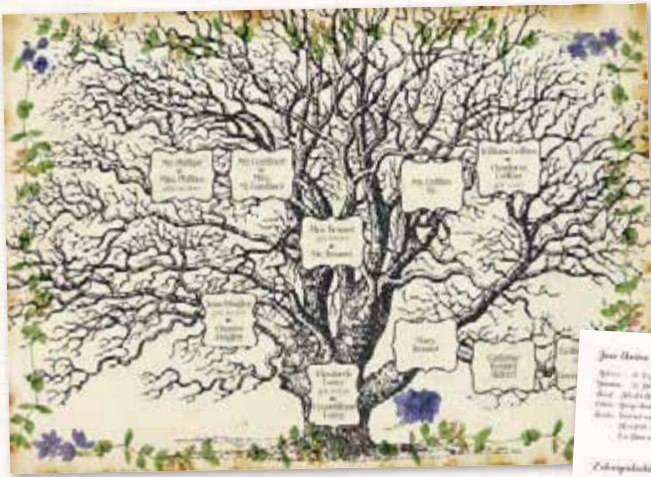

Set in early 19th-century England, Pride and Prejudice follows Elizabeth Bennet and her four sisters, who are expected to secure their futures through suitable marriages. However, the family's modest fortune poses a challenge. Their new neighbor, Mr. Bingley, seems a promising match, but his proud friend Mr. Darcy looks down on the Bennets. Social expectations and romantic ideals clash, turning the search for a husband into a complex affair.

Pride and Prejudice is Jane Austen's most successful and widely read novel – a timeless masterpiece loved by generations of readers around the world. To celebrate the 250th birthday of the iconic British author, this literary classic is now available as a beautifully designed special edition in elegant Regency style. Charming illustrations by Marjolein Bastin and ten lovingly crafted extras bring the world of Elizabeth Bennet and her sisters vividly to life – a perfect gift for all who cherish Jane Austen and her unmistakable charm.

Dr Henry Jekyll has achieved a great deal: he is a successful doctor, respected in society and blessed with good friends – always guided by morality and decency. But what would be possible for him if he could cast off these bonds of civilisation? If he could end the eternal battle between good and evil? While his old friends hardly ever get to see the doctor himself, they seem to have lively contact with the repulsive and dubious Edward Hyde. The suspicion that Dr Jekyll is in danger won't let his friend Utterson go. So he starts his own investigations and realises that evil, once unleashed, can no longer be tamed.

464 pp. / € 36.00
ISBN 978-3-649-64812-3

- An exciting classic of world literature
- Illustrated throughout in colour, with colour edging
- With 10 great extras to take out

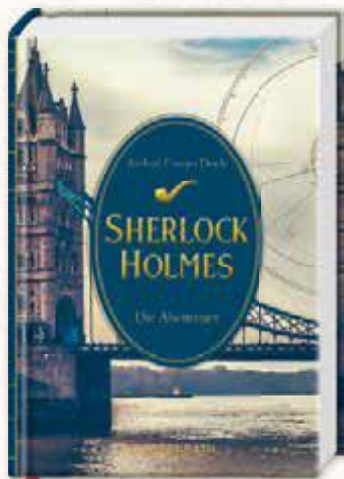

During the War of Secession between the northern and southern states of the USA, intrepid artillerymen and weapons enthusiasts founded the Gun Club in Baltimore. When peace returns in 1865, the club members are faced with a crisis of purpose and so the plan matures to explore the moon with a huge cannonball. This idea is met with enthusiasm worldwide.

The novel from 1865 tells the story of how a gigantic cannon barrel is poured into the earth in Florida and how a projectile with three daring adventurers is launched into space from it. Fortunately, we also find out whether the space travellers actually reach the moon and what exciting adventures they experience on their journey in the sequel novel Around the Moon.

„And so, reader, farewell to Sherlock Holmes!“ – With these words, Arthur Conan Doyle bids farewell to what is probably the most famous detective character in world literature. But before that, we accompany Sherlock Holmes and his faithful partner Dr John Watson once again on a series of curious, exciting and mysterious adventures. In the final 12 stories, the popular investigative duo encounter obscure scientific experiments, thwart insidious poison murders and uncover mysterious deaths with ingenuity and unconventional methods.

The Little Joy series invites us to slow down and treasure the small wonders hidden in everyday life. With tender storytelling and enchanting illustrations, these books open our eyes to the beauty of life's simple pleasures. They remind us that true happiness is often found not in big achievements or grand occasions, but in fleeting moments – a smile, a kind word, a sunlit morning. Each volume offers an uplifting tale paired with warm, whimsical artwork that speaks straight to the heart. Whether it's a little joy, a quiet pause, or a tiny spark of courage, the characters encourage us to rediscover what really matters. Thoughtful and heartwarming, these books make meaningful gifts for birthdays, thank-yous, or simply to brighten someone's day.
