GREAT LIVES IN GRAPHICS

The Great Lives in Graphics series is a fresh approach to looking at the lives of famous and influential people. It takes the essential dates and achievements of each person's life, mixes them with lesser-known facts and trivia, and uses infographics to show them in a new and visual way that is genuinely engaging for children and young adults. The result is a colourful, fascinating and often surprising representation of that person's life, work and legacy. Using timelines, maps, repeated motifs and many more beautiful and informative illustrations, readers learn not just about the main subject of the book but also about the cultural background of the time they lived in.

Live Like A Tudor

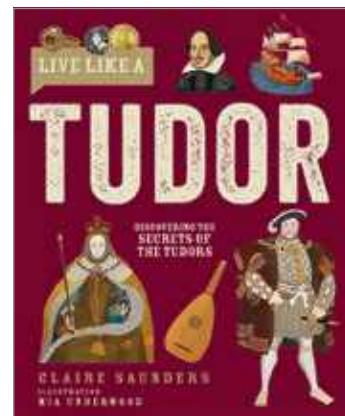

Discovering the Secrets of the Tudors

Claire Saunders, illustrated by Mia Underwood

From Henry VII to Elizabeth I, the Tudor monarchs were colourful, powerful people who presided over an era of naval expansion, exploration and trade. Children will learn about ordinary people's day-to-day lives, from what they wore and ate to how they spent their free time and what kind of jobs they did. They will get to know a young, fictional Elizabethan girl, as she tells them about her daily life. Dotted throughout the book are craft activities and recipes to have ago at, such as making Tudor marchpane (marzipan), learning how to play Tudor games and how to dance like a Tudor.

Live Like A Victorian

Discovering the Secrets of the Victorians

Claire Saunders, illustrated by Wesley Robins

This beautiful book brings the Victorian age to life, so children can learn through stories, facts and activities how the Victorians lived. Detailed illustrations combined with factual text transport readers into the lives of both the wealthy and ordinary people so that children can 'feel' what it was like to be a Victorian – how they dressed, what they ate, what jobs they did, what it was like to be in prison, in a workhouse, in service and much more. A timeline takes the reader through the key developments of the age and a detailed map show the British Empire at its height.

Moving to Mars

Building a Colony on the Red Planet

Eduard Altarriba, Sheddad Kaid-Salah Ferrón, Guillem Anglada Escudé, Miquel Sureda Anfres

Ever since the first rocket was launched into space, we've dreamed of one day setting foot on Mars. Now that dream is set to become reality, with organisations planning to send astronauts to Mars within the next decade. But why stop at traveling to Mars – could we really build our own cities and live on the planet?

Moving to Mars is a fascinating and informative exploration into how future generations could call Mars home. Based on the latest scientific research, this book will take you on a journey that is out of this world.

1066: The Battle of Hastings

A Graphic Novel

Stuart Douch

1066 is one of the most famous dates in the history of the nation: the year of the Battle of Hastings. It was a key turning point in the nation's history, marking the end of the Anglo-Saxon era and the start of the Norman period. This graphic novel tells the story of what happened before, during and after this iconic battle. Discover all the details surrounding the story, from the mistakes and decisions that meant William of Normandy became the first Norman king of England to how Harold was killed – was it by an arrow in the eye?

At the farm

Look! There is a big barn.
 Look! There is a tractor.
 Look! There is a farmer.
 Look! There is a chicken.
 Look! There is a cow.
 Look! There is a pig.

Good! Thank you!

Good! Thank you!

Taking away

In this story, we learn a useful building block means it is important to be not actually just one building in a city, but that many buildings can help to make a city.

Read this story with the children in a few days after building their first tower.

Fun and educational, these activity books feature beautiful, bright illustrations that will draw children in and keep them busy. Alain Grée's unmistakably rich and appealing style of illustration makes every page incredibly absorbing. And while children are enjoying the mazes, matching, and counting, the activities will be helping them to develop a wide range of skills, including observational, conversational, and motor skills.
