MOM, WHY DO I MISBEHAVE/GET ANGRY?

Diana Jiménez • Diana Mateos

Penguin Kids • 2025 • Hardcover • 280 x 250 mm • 48 pp • 2 titles

A story for the whole family to enjoy—discover how the brain works and explore emotions together

To understand our emotions, we first need to understand our brain! Inside, there are three little animals: the crocodile (representing the primitive brain), the little monkey (the emotional, limbic brain), and the turtle (the rational neocortex). Depending on which one is in charge, we behave in different ways!

With an educational approach, this story offers a simple and visual way to address one of every parent's big concerns: Is it normal for my child to have tantrums? It's a fun and heartwarming tool for both adults and children to learn the keys to emotional management.

A rhyming series inspired by Waldorf education, designed to connect with the seasons.

Luan doesn't like it when her grandma pinches her cheeks or when she has to play on the slide just because her friend Víctor says so. But when she can't find the words and others don't listen, Luan gets frustrated and doesn't know what to do! In this book, Elena Crespi tells a sweet and sensitive story that many kids (and adults) will relate to. Following Luan, little ones will learn to listen to their bodies and express how they feel.

LITTLE MOLE QUAKE

Anna Llenas

Lumen Ilustrados • 2017 • Hardcover • 277 x 278 mm • 56 pp

A story about hyperactivity and finding a way to channel that bursting, brilliant energy—with love and zero judgment—so young children can embrace themselves and feel great about it.

Everything is peaceful in the forest until Little Mole wakes up. It's hard for him to pay attention, he doesn't do his homework, loses things, breaks fragile objects... even the other kids are sick of poor Mole!

It has been days since anyone has wanted to play with him... The adults say a lot of stuff about him: that he's very nervous, good for nothing, a weirdo... But one day, his parents take him to have a class with the Forest Fairy.

Will Little Mole manage to change his "labels"? And most important of all: will he be able to finish his class project on time?

THE INNER JEWEL

Anna Llenas

Lumen Ilustrados • 2021 • Hardcover • 237 x 286 mm • 60 pp

A crossover book for adults and children who want to understand the importance of self-care.

As we grow up, the world makes us look outward, rather than inward at our own needs, emotions, reflections... and slowly, we lose our connection to our inner jewel.

Because no matter how many times we stumble, make a mistake or mess up, we shouldn't forget that if we have our inner jewel, we'll never be alone; we'll have ourselves for company.

THE VOID

Anna Llenas

Lumen Ilustrados • 2021 • Hardcover • 237 x 286 mm • 84 pp

A key topic: the value of self-understanding and knowing how to find the essence inside ourselves.

Julia is a normal girl who lives at the top of a big hill in a small house in an average-sized town.

Her life was quiet and happy until, one day, it fell apart, and she was left with nothing but emptiness. She tried to fill it in a thousand different ways, with lots of different things.

But nothing rid her of that empty feeling...

Until one day, she heard a voice that changed her perspective. That's where the secret lay.

CAPTAIN ARSENIO

Pablo Bernasconi

Sudamericana • 2007/2025 • Hardcover • 195 x 270 mm • 64 pp • 3 titles

A series of picture books featuring a bold, creative, and slightly eccentric protagonist who inspires kids to explore the world of invention and believe in their ideas!

Little Arsenio dreamed of being an inventor because he loved to imagine and because he looked forward the way the brave do. Audacious as he was, he wasn't content just to sketch his inventions; he also built them, tested them, and thus ensured his experiments had as much impact on his own bones as they did on Universal History.

THE FISH IN MY RIVER

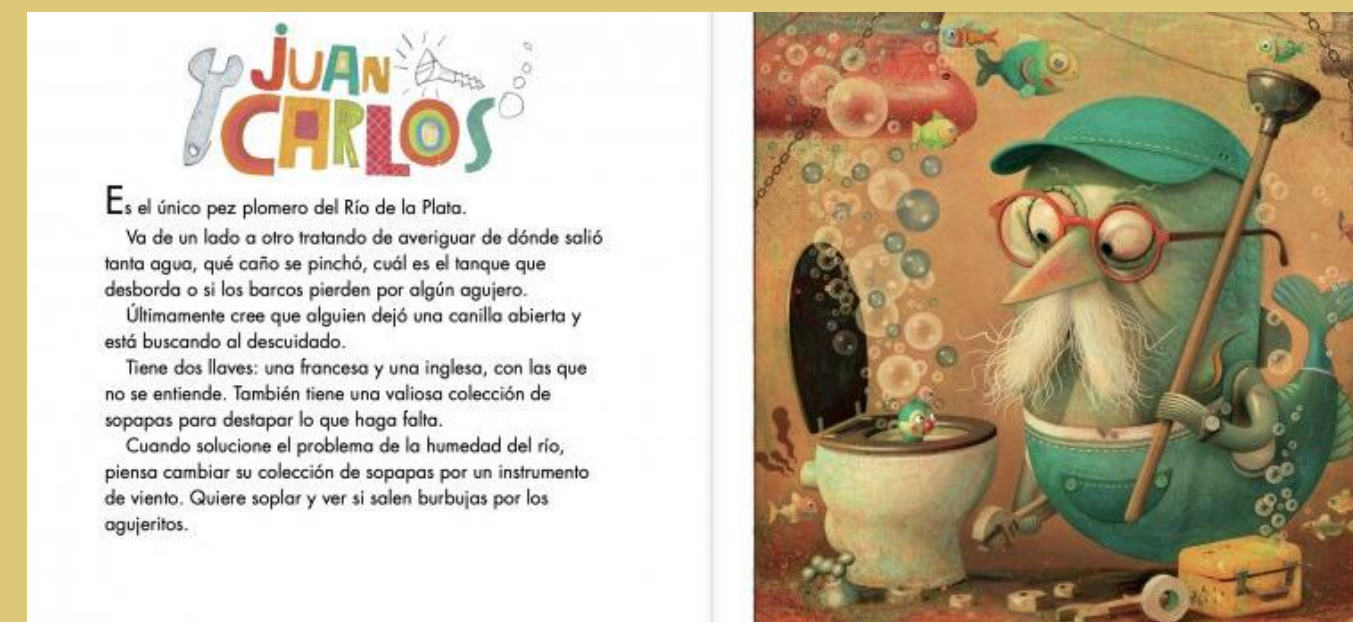

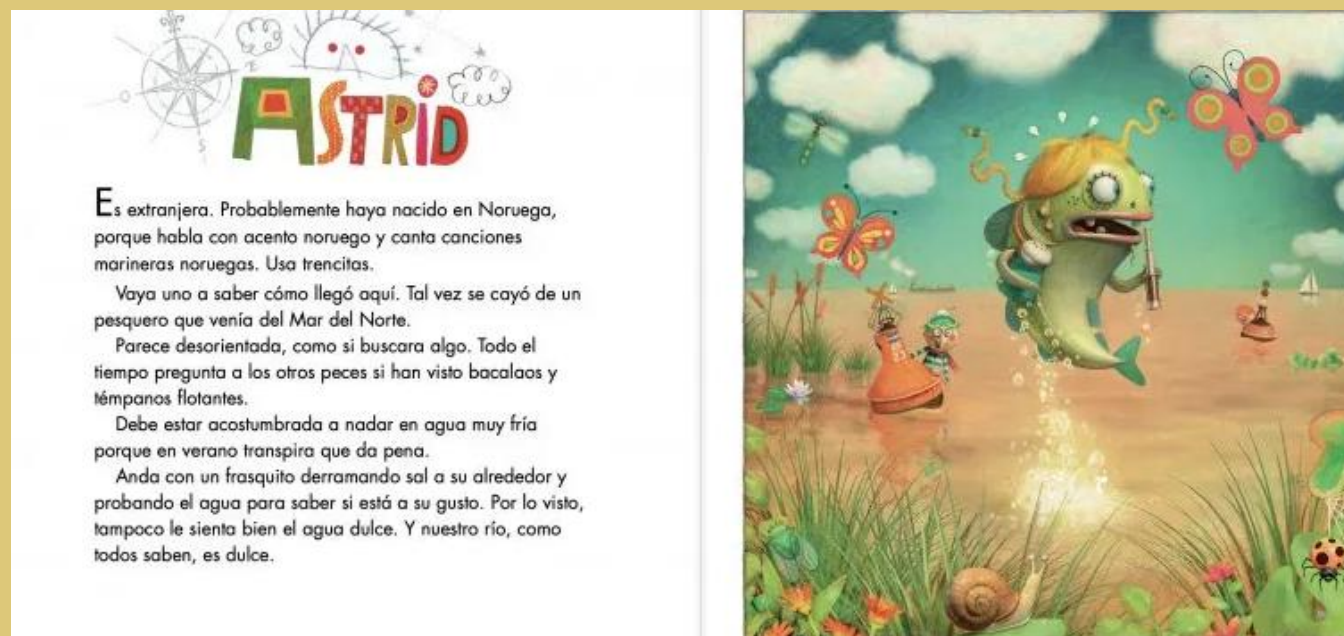

Emma Wolf • Matías Trillo

Sudamericana • 2025 • Softcover • 200 x 200 mm • 64 pp

Pure humor and irony in an originally illustrated picture book.

A young man and his grandmother practice all kinds of extreme sports. One day, while canyoning, they ride a tricycle down a cobblestone street that leads straight to the riverbank, and everything ends in tragedy: besides the crash, the grandmother's dentures fly out and sink to the bottom of the river. Plop And so begins the adventure that will introduce us to all sorts of fish discovered on that occasion: Palmerín de la Rivera, Mucho Piscitelli, La Espandrija, Astrid, Petrona la Burriquetason—just a few of the species found during this exploration. And the dentures? Ah... you'll have to check out the illustrations in this beautiful book to find out!

MAGGIE MAGNIFIER

Amaia Arrazola

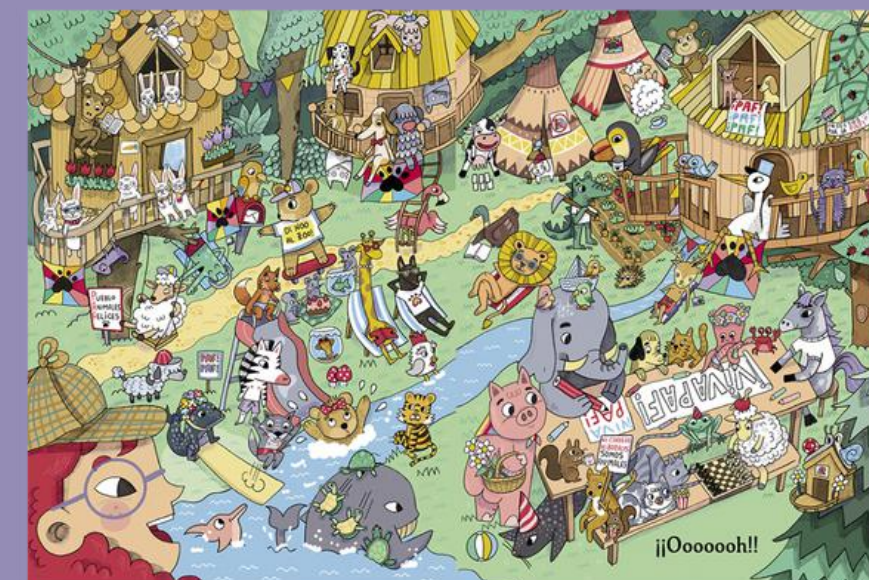

Beascoa • 2025 • Hardcover • 233 x 316 mm • 32 pp

A "kids' thriller" featuring household pets.

Maggie Magnifier is just a kid who lives in a regular house, across from a regular park, right in the middle of a super-duper ordinary city. Oh, and she's also a detective! What she loves most is finding clue trails, cracking mysterious cases, and scoping out suspects...

Now she's got a huge case on her hands: her cat Fiona has gone missing! And it's not just Fiona; Mrs. Melitona can't find her dachshund, the fish tank in Gerardo the caretaker's office is empty, and there are zero pigeons in the street or squirrels in the trees... It looks like all the animals have disappeared. Where in the world could they be?

Solve the mystery and have a blast reading while checking out the funny and brilliant illustrations.
