Clouds

Eloisa Guarracino & Daniela Spoto

Mimi and Minù are looking at the sky and discover that clouds are nothing but the people who no longer live on the earth. When people die, their minds, which are as subtle as the air, fly in the sky becoming clouds. A soft and delicate story dealing with an intimate theme, the most difficult one but also very natural, such as death.

Satie: appunti e nostalgie

Gian Nicola Vessia
& Federico Maggioni

The life story of a musician with a surprising imagination. A man sitting at the piano keyboard with elegant carelessness, melancholy, acrid in his humour and very sweet in many of his notes and pages that declare his authenticity as an artist.

Forchette e melodie

Gian Nicola Vessia
& Riccardo Guasco

This book is dedicated to great composers – from Bach to Vivaldi, from Puccini to Gershwin – and their relationship with cooking and contains some very special biographies, anecdotes, recipes. Plus a few small hints on the soundtrack that might accompany your dinner.

ISBN 978-3-944858-45-6

A domani, signor Ravel

Gian Nicola Vessia
& Federico Maggioni

The book tells of words dampened by sounds on the piano, a nuanced story, languid pastels of Paris wearing the elegance of Ravel and the rhythm of Bolero.

La bellezza del nevischio

Gian Nicola Vessia & Carlo Stanga

Two friends, on a winter night in Vienna: a distinguished surgeon, Theodor Billroth, and a prominent musician and guardian of the great European tradition, Johannes Brahms.

ISBN 978-3-944858-84-5

Ninne nanne d'autore

Fabrizia Alliora | Gian Nicola Vessia
& Alessandro Sanna

A psychologist scrutinises the dialogue between mother and child to the sound of a lullaby sung with her mouth closed. A musicologist goes through the pages of musicians such as Brahms, Chopin, Puccini who have composed music while keeping an eye on the cradle.
